United States Courts.

The condition of Anthony Barrett, the Brooklyn lawyer, over whose holding of 23,790 shares of Brooklyn Elevated stock there promises to be no end of litigation, is said to-day to be extremely critical.

At his home, 21 Brevoort place, it was said this morning, that he is now threatened with consumption as a result of the severe attach of pneumonia from which he recently railled. He is constantly attended by Dr. Jacobi, of this city, in consultation with Drs. Schenk and Nedecker, or Brooklyn, and his triends say that a crisis has come and a relapse is say that a crisis has come and a relapse is feared.

The Hall suit against Mr. Barrett and the L Company has been further complicated by the commencement of two new suits by stockholders of the Brooklyn Elevated Raj-road, who take similar positions to that of Mr. Hall, asking for an injunction restraining Barrett from voting on the shares which he holds in trust, and demanding judgment that the stock shall be returned to the treasury of the Company.

the stock shall be returned to the treasury of the Company.

These new plaintiffs are Mrs. Anna 1.
Hitchook, of Denver, Col., and Percival J. Parris, of Whatcom, Wash. They hold ten shares of stock each. They have obtained, through their counsel, temporary injunctions irom Judge Wallace, in the United States Circuit Court. The orders in each case to show cause why the injunctions should not be made permanent are returnable next Friday at the Circuit Court in Brooklyn.

These suits will still longer delay the settlement of the pending controversy, and consequently the holding of the annual election of officers.

On these confessions the Fire Marshal swore out a warrant for the arrest of Herman Albrecht, who was captured last night and arraigned before Justice Goetting in the Lee Avenue Police court this morning.

Steinbrenner's confession is as follows:

"The premises were set on fire with a volatile combustible held in a kind of bladder, with a fuse attached. Guppowder surrounded the fuse, in a piece of muslin which was sewn together to predent the powder from being separated. Then some brown paper, folded, was used to start the fire.

"He told me he had a friend who had already set places on fire and who prepared all the ingredients used by them in firing places. He further told me that he was an assistant to the other man. Hé also told me me he was an Anarchist, and that if I ever said a word to any person I would have to die, as they kept poison under their finger-nails, and If they scratched anybody it was certain death.

"He also told me that they each carried a siungshot, knife and revolver to protect themselves in case of trouble. Atter this I gave them a duplicate key of my rooms. The rest is known to the public.

"John Gottlers Steinbrenner."

The confession is witnessed by John Wilson and sworn to before Benjamin Lawis, Fire Marshal.

In the Lee Avenue Court Steinbrenner repeated his confession, and Albrecht, who had been arrested, pleaded guilty to the charge of conspiracy to set the fire, but claimed that the actual incendiary was Steinbrenner.

Both prisoners were held for the Grand Jury.

A pittiul scene ensued. Steinbrenner's wife and three little children were in court and filled the air with their crying.
